

Class Actions & Derivative Suits

"This team has a firmly established reputation for its superb litigation expertise" Chambers & Partners

Profile

FBC is a market leader in Class Actions and Derivative Suits. It is Israel's leading firm in class action defense litigation, and in recent years has represented defendants in over 100 class actions per year.

FBC represents clients in some of the largest and most important class actions and derivative suits in Israel in all areas of law, including corporate and securities, banking, insurance, antitrust, consumer goods, communications, privacy protection, environment, energy, labor law, and more.

The practice is substantially enhanced by FBC's experience and knowledge in the wide variety of substantive fields of law that class action claims and derivative suits bring into play. Drawing from our very substantial litigation practice, FBC helps its clients navigate both the certification stage and, where necessary, the substantive stage of class action cases, and advises clients in evaluating the complex web of potential risks and rewards that typically characterize class actions and derivative suits.

The practice has substantial experience and expertise in representing multinational companies in class actions in Israel.
